

musicals IN LA

Celebrating Theatre in Southern California

Monday, May 11, 2015

Fringe Spotlight Part 1 - Check Out These Shows Coming in June

The 2015 Hollywood Fringe Festival opens next month and tickets are available now for all productions. This year's Fringe will run June 11 – 28, and feature over 1300 performances at more than 55 venues. From the opening night party at Fringe Central (Fringe Cabaret Stage) 6510 Santa Monica Blvd to the Fringe Award Ceremony and Closing Night Party on June 28, get ready for anything. Here's a look at some of the musical productions on this year's schedule. For information about all of the shows available. go to www.hollywoodfringe.org.

MARRY ME A LITTLE: Good People Theater Company makes its third appearance at the Hollywood Fringe Festival with Marry Me a Little, a two-hander music revue featuring Stephen Sondheim trunk songs from some of his greatest musicals including Anyone Can Whistle, Follies, Company, Forum and A Little Night Music. Craig Lucas and Norman Rene thread the Sondheim songs through a story about two singles (Jessie Withers and David Laffey) passing a Saturday night musing about love, never knowing they live just one floor apart. Producer/Director Janet Miller says the show is "about loving Stephen Sondheim." She adds, "it is a true Fringe show due to a One Act structure (about 70 minutes), and for patrons who know their Sondheim it's an 'oh, I love that song. And that song. And that song' kind of show. Plus, for Fringers who know Sondheim mainly from his mega hits - like Sweeney Todd - it's a fantastic chance to hear his lesser known, but no less brilliant, rep." Featuring musical direction by Corey Hirsch. (June 4 – 28, 2015) www.hff15.org/2234

ABOUT ME

I love musicals.
It doesn't matter if it moves you to laughter or to tears, a great musical is an intensely satisfying experience.
So welcome to Musicals in LA where you'll find the latest musical theatre news on the